"Leadership in Action"

From the Founders

Education in Action is proud to announce the Lone Star Youth Leadership Council program's highest rate of participation since its inception eight years ago. One hundred twenty-seven outstanding young Texans successfully completed program requirements for the 2009-2010 Council. Members represented 76 school districts, two charter schools, and three private schools. This special edition newsletter highlights each of these students and their accomplishments as members of the 2009-2010 Lone Star Youth Leadership Council.

Program and Purpose

Each year outstanding Texas students are nominated by educators to participate in the Lone Star Leadership Academy. Upon completion of this leadership program, alumni are invited to participate in Education in Action's alumni organization, the Lone Star Youth Leadership Council.

The Lone Star Youth Leadership Council program provides members with continued leadership training during the school year. The focus of this year's program was 'beginning with the end in mind'. Members began by first writing personal mission statements, and then goals designed to be actionable steps toward achieving their missions. Finally, members assessed their own achievements after five months of effort. Each member was also challenged to put their leadership skills into action by creating and leading a service project to fill a need they identified in their school or community. Project requirements included finding a teacher/sponsor, creating a project action plan, incorporating the assistance of at least two of their peers, and documenting their project in pictures as well as text. Members also have the opportunity to return to the Lone Star Leadership Academy as Youth Facilitators to continue developing their leadership skills.

Recognition Ceremony and Reception

On February 27, 2010, Education in Action honored the 2009-2010 Lone Star Youth Leadership Council members at its 8th Annual Texas Independence Day Service Project Presentation and Recognition Ceremony at The Brookside Center in Hurst, Texas. Twenty-nine members from across the state presented their projects and accomplishments at the ceremony and received their certificates of completion. Two graduating seniors, Lindsey Morrison of South Grand Prairie High School in Grand Prairie ISD and Britt Brandon of Hyde Park Baptist School in Austin, Texas, were recognized for successfully completing their sixth years on the Council. Keynote speaker, The Honorable Wendy Davis, Texas State Senator, District 10, spoke about her personal journey to legislative office and the obstacles she overcame on the way to her success. Attendees enjoyed lunch and visited with the honorees about their projects. Honorees unable to attend the event submitted project portfolios which were on display. Education in Action celebrated these outstanding young students' contributions the weekend of Texas Independence Day in honor of the organization's mission to empower young Texans to be informed and active leaders in their communities.

The Education in Action staff commends the accomplishments of the 2009-2010 Lone Star Youth Leadership Council members. We look forward to your participation in future Education in Action programs and to watching you grow and achieve throughout your educational career and beyond.

The members of the Lone Star Youth Leadership Council are some of the best and brightest students in Texas. All of them are 'busy' people – involved in local school clubs, Student Council, holding class offices, National Junior Honor Society and National Honor Society, 4-H, sports, music, drama, scouting, church activities, and community organizations. They have received numerous awards for their efforts. The Lone Star Youth Leadership Council also takes a good amount of their time. Each member of the Council must complete three written leadership lessons, perform a service project, and make a presentation of their project documented in writing and pictures. The 2009-2010 Council performed admirably in all aspects of the program and the work of the group, as a whole, was very impressive. The scope of the service projects and the students' passion for finding a need and then a way to address it was just overwhelming. Their reservoir of creativity seemed to know no bounds. It was an absolute joy to get to know these students and to be involved, in even a small way, in their education and development as future Texas leaders.
